A scenic view of a golf course framed by large trees. The foreground shows the dark, thick trunks of several large trees, likely cork oaks, with their branches arching over the scene. The ground is covered in green grass and some fallen leaves. In the middle ground, a well-maintained green golf course stretches out, leading to a small pond or water hazard with tall reeds. The background is a dense forest of green trees under a bright sky. The overall atmosphere is peaceful and natural.
